

Registration Now Open for ASCM CONNECT 2023: North America

The event will feature keynote speaker sessions from Former U.S. Ambassador to Russia, UN Chief Economist and more.

CHICAGO – June 6, 2023 – The Association for Supply Chain Management (ASCM), the global leader in supply chain education, transformation, innovation and leadership, today announced that registration is now open for its annual conference, ASCM CONNECT 2023: North America. This year's event will be held at the Kentucky International Convention Center in Louisville, Kentucky September 11 – 13, 2023.

Keynote speakers at the event include John J. Sullivan, Former United States Ambassador to Russia, Elliot Harris, United Nations Chief Economist, Amanda Manna, Futurist and Vice President, Singularity University and Frankie Mossman, Chief Customer Officer, Overhaul.

Supply chains and how they are linked to global events are top of mind for anyone in business today," said ASCM CEO Abe Eshkenazi, CSCP, CPA, CAE. "We are honored to have an incredible lineup of speakers participating in this year's ASCM CONNECT 2023: North America so that our attendees can hear insights directly from experts that have been at the center of some of the largest challenges currently impacting global supply chains."

The premier event will be packed with thought-provoking presentations, hands-on workshops, and exciting networking opportunities for supply chain professionals. Attendees will have access to over 70 educational sessions, eight innovation labs, and six facility tours including Angel's Envy Bourbon Distillery, UPS Worldport, Copper and Kings Brandy Distillery and Churchill Downs.

This year's conference will also debut TECHTalks, a live forum for opinions and analysis on the latest tech trends in supply chains. Attendees will have the opportunity to hear from a diverse lineup, from C-level executives to technology and start-up pioneers, to gain best practice advice, explore case studies and identify future strategies for their organizations. The exhibit hall will also debut Start Up Row which will highlight entrepreneurial companies in supply chain.
